SUMMARY

Full-stack developer with hands-on experience building and maintaining web applications across the front end and back end. Comfortable working with React.js on the front end and Node.js, Express.js, and Django on the back end, with additional experience in IT support, JavaScript tutoring, and network maintenance. Author of a full-length technical book on React Native and Expo Go, covering cross-platform mobile development from foundations to real-world projects. Currently completing a B.Sc. in Computer Science at the University of Ibadan and seeking a full-time developer role where I can apply my technical and problem-solving skills.
